

Michelle Robichaud

Instructor, Business Program, NBCC

They say...

As an instructor in the business program at NBCC, I have had the pleasure of having Mark Breen as a speaker on a number of occasions to discuss the Simplexity Applied Creativity technique. Not only has it opened the minds of students to be more innovative, it has motivated them to consider new ways of tackling problems. In addition, it has invigorated my teaching style in so many ways. I have applied this thinking method in many classes and in the way I prepare for instruction. Mark is a dynamic, engaging and an excellent teacher. He is able to take student ideas and build on them, on the fly, to drive the point home. Students have commented on his positive and powerful presentation delivery style.

Want to see results like this in your company? Learn how tap into creativity to solve complex problems

The next Catalyst session is October 16-18

Contact mbreen@enterprisesj.com

